

THE VENDETTA PRECEPT

Written by

Daniel Avril

OPENING CUTSCENE

INT. HULTON RESEARCH SPACE STATION - EDWARD'S LAB - NIGHT

REMNANT, 32, wakes up on an operating table. The glow from the lighting fixture above makes her flinch and she sits up.

REMNANT

Where am I?

She examines her robotic body.

REMNANT (CONT'D)

What the hell happened to my body?

Why don't I remember my name?

She leaps off the table, approaches a computer monitor and hovers a finger over the power button. She yelps when a DEFORMED VEXED SLAMS onto the door window.

The creature is motionless before lifting itself off the window and shambling away. Remnant presses the power button.

EDWARD

If you're seeing this, I'm probably dead by now.

The TV switches from Edward's face to a slideshow of multiple areas throughout the station, every one crawling with Vexed.

EDWARD (CONT'D)

This station is now overrun with mutated creatures called the Vexed who'll attack anything perceived as human.

REMNANT

I'll stay and wait for rescue then.

The screen then switches to a low battery symbol.

EDWARD

They're draining the station's power core, which is destabilizing
it. You'll need to arm yourself for this.

REMNANT

Shit.

GO TO STARTING
AREA GAMEPLAY